

The Final Countdown! Celebratory Concert

Four decades of talented musicians who have all studied here at the Sixth Form College over the last 40 years took to the stage on Tuesday night to (quite literally) bring the house down with their Final Countdown Celebratory Concert.

The Sentinel and Signal 2 have covered the concert in quite some detail...

<http://www.thisisstaffordshire.co.uk/news/Students-start-final-countdown/article-1957969-detail/article.html>

Pictured above: Adam Smith, former Student Governor, returned to compare his third concert here at the Sixth Form College.

Pictured right: Jade Wilkinson, current first year student studying AS levels here at the college, sung current chart hit Gravity.

Pictured Left:

Sarah Jones, former Performing Arts student.

Victoria Wood, current Performing Arts student.

Emma Wooton, former student and current teacher at the college.

Pictured Right:

Anna Bradburn, currently at St Peter's High School, plans to join the college in September.

Anna was accompanied on the piano by her mother who is a former Sixth Form College student.

Pictured Left:

Ben Steele, currently in his second year at the Sixth Form College, sang Bohemian Rhapsody supported by a choir of current and former students.

Pictured Left:

Former students Sarah Jones and Geoff Bond performed a duet of Andrew Lloyd Webber's – 'All I ask of you'

Professional Conductor and former student, Michael Fowles, spoke about his time at the Sixth Form College and the influence it had on his chosen career path.

Whilst a student here in the seventies, Michael arranged 'Music' by John Miles he heard his arrangement performed for the first time at this concert.

Jim Hands, current student, and company ended the night with a climactic version of the Europe number – 'The Final Countdown' re-written by our very own Derek Poulson, to illustrate the end of an era and the countdown the move to Leek Road.